SEC Investment Utilization

| SEC Community Materials	Tier 1 Knowledge Base	Tier 1 Specific Focus	Beyond Tier 1 Significant Projects (separate SOW and PO)
Insight newsletter	Program best practices	SME (former CSOs) insight and collaboration	Enterprise/Security Risk Alignment™
Public website; hundreds of SEC guidance materials	Emerging issues awareness	Whiteboard strategy and/or operations sessions	Industry peer research and analysis
Industry quick polls	Current issue analysis	SLRI best practice first draft for customization	Next Generation GSOC whiteboard sessions and designs
Executive summaries of research	Full research reports	Executive-level presentations	Organizational transformations
Books for purchase	Process results	Security's value proposition	Program reviews
Insight videos	Security State of the Industry briefings	Measures and metrics	Technology roadmaps
Faculty Advisor Q&A	Standards, policies and guidelines	Targeted research reports and presentations	Security's story
Abbreviated program assessment tools	Guideline templates	Security program plans and frameworks	Security Officer Force Optimization
Career resources	Regulatory baselines	Review security officer contract	Regulatory compliance programs
	Comprehensive program assessments	Customized SEC resources	Strategy and business plans
	Tier 1 website		Risk assessments
	Tier 1 newsletter		Risk and Security Reimagined™
	Books

With any issues/objectives your security department is undertaking, there are ways the SEC can add value and save you time.

SEC can supplement your staff depending upon their expertise, time constraints and budget. SEC's role may range from providing Security Leadership Research Institute (SLRI) research reports, to program reviews or full project design and implementation.

We're happy to discuss options in further detail: contact@secleader.com